Public Sentiment in the Northern States

A disposition is manifesting itself to build A disposition is manifesting itself to build up a party in opposition to the President and the policy foreshadowed in his proclamation. Many leading journals condemn the emancipation scheme, as being ill-timed and impolitic. Both the Louisville Journal and Democrat are very severe on Mr. Lincoln, declaring that while such a decree can never be carried into effect, it can only have a tendency to lurther exasperate the rebels and confirm the wavering in the belief that this war has been waged for no other purpose than the abolition of slavery. But notthis war has been waged for no other purpose than the abolition of slavery. But notwithstanding their avowed hostility to the President and his policy, the Journal and Democrat both unhesitatingly pledge Kentucky as ever faithful to the Union. They declare that to swerve from their allegiance now would insure certain tun; that instead of saving slavery, it would render its destruction in the border States inevitable. While these journals are proclaiming their disapprobation of the Administration, there While these journals are proclaiming their disapprobation of the Administration, there is another class—a class of tabid fanatics—who are wild in their clamorings for the arming of the slaves, and are as unsparing in their condemnations of the policy which has been pursued by the government as any of the journals cited above. There is, however, a third class, who seem to appreciate the difficulties with which the President has had to contend, and manifest their friendship for him by an carnest support. It is unfortunate that this state of allairs exists, as it must necessarily chill the hopes and paralyze, more or less, the efforts of those who are struggling for the one great object—the restoration of union and peace. exists, as it must necessarily chili the nopes and paralyze, more or less, the efforts of those who are struggling for the one great object—the restoration of union and peace. While it works thus disastrously to our own cause, it can only inspire the rebels with renewed energy and serve to prolong the terrible struggle.

THE REBEL WAR STEAMER "ORETO," OF " FLORIDA," AT MOBILE .- The Richmond Dispatch of 18th September, says:

The Augusta and Atlanta papers publish a dispatch from Mobile, announcing the arrival of an iron-clad man-of-war at that port. The statement is incorrect. A special correspondent at Mobile furnishes the Charleston Merent at Mobile furnishes the Charleston Mercury with some authentic information in regard to the arrival referred to: "The vessel is the steam corvette Oreto, now called the Florida, and is not an iron-clad. Our readers are aware of the difficulties which the commander of this ship encountered at Nassau, owing to the rigor of the British neartality regulations. Having finally escaped from the clutches of the Board of Admirally, Capt. Maffit steamed away to the Gulf, and bodly ran the gauntlet of the blockaders at the mouth of Mobile Bay in broad daylight, on the 4th instant. The captain was at the time sick with fever, as were most of her small crew of 13 men. The Florida ran within 60 yards of the Yankee vessels, and her sides are crew of 13 men. The Florida ran within 60 yards of the Yankee vessels, and her sides are yards of the Yankee vessels, and her sides are peppered all over with schrapnel and grape-shot. One 11 inch shell went through her side, a foot above the water line, and lodged in the coal bunkers. The Florida is a beautiful and well armed corvette, of great speed. Her armament consists of 8 guns. Her dash through the blockaders with a sick crew of only 13 men, in broad daylight, is one of the most daring naval exploits of the war. The Florida did not fire a shot, as her crew were unable to man even a single gun. She had one killed and two wounded. She now lies below the city, in quarantine."

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION .- The Louis. ville Journal thus comments on the measure of emancipation, and the proclamation of the President:

"We shall not stop now to discuss the character and tendency of this measure. Both are manifest. The one is as unwarantable as the other is mischievous. The measure is wholly unauthorized and wholly pernicious. Though it cannot be executed in fact, and though its execution probably will never be seriously attempted, its moral influence will be decided and purely hurtful. So far as its own purpose is concerned, it is a mere brutum fulmen, but it will prove only too effectual for the purpose of the enemy. It is a gigantic usurpation, unrelieved by the promise of a solitary advantage however minute and faint, but on the contrary aggravated by the mensolitary advantage however minute and faint, but on the contrary aggravated by the menace of great and unmixed evil. Kentucky cannot and will not acquiesce in this measure. Never! As little will she allow it to chill her devotion to the cause thus cruelly emperilled anew. The Government our fathers framed is one thing, and a thing above price; Abraham Lincolo, the temporary occupant of the Executive chair, is another thing, of comparatively little worth. * * * The loyalty of Kentucky is not to be shaken by any mad act of the President. If necessary she will resist the act, and aid in holding the actor to a just and lawful accountability, but she will never lift her own hand against the glorious fabric because he has blindly or criminally smitten it. smitten it.

POPULATION OF PORTLAND .- The Oregonian

Hero Worship.—A military leader who succeeds is the ereat General; he who fails is condemned, and justly so. It matters not whether the failure was the result of his inadequate plans or was forced by causes which were beyond his control; the consequences to him are the same, for he is held responsible. This is the general rule upon which mankind act, and upon which they form an estimate of a General. In the campaign in Virginia General McClellan was unsuccessful. The General McClellan was unsuccessful. The efforts of the magnificent army under his command—the bloody battles it fought—terminated in a repulse which will become famous in history. For this grand and gloomy failure the people of the Union were justified in holding the General in command responsible. It is alleged that his plans were interfered with by the War Department, and that he was not supported as he should have been. This may be admitted without changing the position of parties; the General is the man to be held to a strict accountability for the disasters which General McClellan was unsuccessful. a strict accountability for the disasters which may overtake his army .- Sac. Union. ULTRAISM .- To be ultra is to go beyond. ULTRAISM.—To be ultra is to go beyond. It is to attack the sceptre in the name of the throne and the mitre in the name of the altar; it is to maltreat the thing which you support; it is to kick in the traces; it is to eavil at the stake for undercooking heretics; it is to reproach the idol with lack of idolatry; it is to insult by excess of respect; it is to find in the Pope too little royalty, and too much light in the hight; it is to be dissatisfied with the albatros, with snow, with the swan and with the lily in the name of whiteness; it is to be partisan of things to the point of becoming partisan of things to the point of becoming their enemy; it is to be so very pro. that you are con.—Victor Hugo.

Northern States:

By closely observing the spirit of the public journals in the East, both with regard to the President's emancipation proclamation and the management of the war, we are led to the painful conviction that there exists a division in public sentiment which must necessarily work disastrously to the Union A disposition is wearned.

Views of Colonial Statesmen on Colo nial Defences.

As a general thing, we are so much absorbed in our own pursuits and in the development of our own interests, that we have not much time to pay any great attention to the politics of other countries. Our new country, our gold mines, are to us objects of primary importance. Our politics, crude though they be, are yet sufcient to call for the first place in our sayings of our fellow colonists in Eastern America are of sufficient interest to most of us to require sometimes more than a casual glance. More particularly has this been the case of late, when questions have arisen which have such a universal bearing upon the connection existing between parent countries and their colonies, - when doctrines which more or less affect us have been promulgated and discussed both at home in England and in her dependencies on the western side of the Atlantic. The bond of sympathy which subsists between us and the eastern provinces, not only as subjects of the one crown but as colonists must make us desirous of knowing what are their feelings and their views upon a subject of such vital interest.

The Convention at Quebec from the three Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick. and Canada, formed for the purpose of coming to an understanding on the subject of an In tercolonial Railway, has been the occasion of bringing together the leading men and Governors of the three Provinces. After the business which called them together was concluded, the parties proceeded westward through the Province of Canada, Lord Mulgrave in company with the Governor General, visiting all the principal cities as far west as London. Several of the other members of the Convention were invited to a Reform dianer given at Port Robinson in honor of the election of Mr. Currie as member for the Niagara division of the Legislative Council. Among those who attended were the hon Joseph Howe, Premier of Nova Scotia, well known for many years to English statesmen as an able specimen of a Colonist, the hon. Mr. Foley, the hon. T. D. McGee, and the hon. Mr. Macdougal, members of the Government of Canada, and several other colonia celebrities. The occasion was not so remarkable and interesting to us as a political party display as for the exhibition of the views of prominent Colonial statesmen on subjects which concern us as a dependency of the British Crown. Mr. Howe, in his speech alluding to the Colonial Defence question in England, said, "He had a high opinion of Canada and of the men of Canada, but certain parties in the old country had recently presented them in a new light. Some two or three members of the House of Peers, some two or three erudite commoners in the Lower House, one professor at a University, and two or three editors of newspapers, had set themselves to propagate this idea, that the men of Canada are cravens and cowards, and that the women of Canada were not worth defending. Did he believe it? No! and he would tell them that Nova Scotia did not believe it, nor New Brunswick, nor Prince Edward's Island, nor New Foundland-and Canada did not believe it herself. He felt he had no right to teach the politics of Canada. He came here to speak to them on great national questions. He came here to address himself to the good sense and sound policy and patriotism of the people of this noble Province. But he would say that those noble lords and commons to whom he had referred might have remembered this, that these British American Provinces had been loyal more than a century." Referring to the exertions of one of the old pioneers, the late Mr. Merritt, he says : "When this Province was sparsely populated, and the Lower Provinces were feeble and far distant, he shouldered his musket and did duty upon the frontier, when the Greys and the Ellenboroughs were far enough away, and doing but little for the integrity of the empire." Speaking of the right of the House of Lords to find fault with the Canadian He would take his stand upon this broad principle that whether the one bill or the other was the best the House of Lords and the House of Commons were not to be the judges. The Parliament of Canada were to be the judges, and the Parliament of Canada alone. He was astonished that the noble lords should have spoken on this matter as they did, when they ought to have known that they could not dictate even to their own House of Commons how they should spend a shilling, much less to the free Parliament of Canada." Speaking of public opinion in England, he continues. "He was prepared to say that he believed those men misrepresented the opinions of the commons and the lords, and the people of England." On the subject of defence he says, "He did not wish it to be understood for a moment that he desired that Canada should not be armed. But God forbid she should be armed aggressively so as to create mutual hostility between her and her neighbors. He would not say a word about the unhappy struggle now desolating the United States. We had nothing to do with it. The people there had engaged in a controversy and must fight it out. All we had to do was to obey the Queen's proclamation, and keep neutral."

Speaking of Goldwin Smith's letters advocating the severance of the Colonies from England, he rather characteristically re-

Tilley asked him-How are you in Nova Scotia? Are you prepared for independncce? Have you read Goldwin Smith's letters? He (Mr. Howe) wrote back-" No

I have not read Goldwin Smith's letters, I will float if the devil himself cuts the tow-line." Mr. Howe then goes on to say that England would de herself irreparable injury

by separating from the Eastern Provinces.

THE BRITISH COLONIST | n wy with those of the United States, or any other hostile power, to the injury of England. But, says-" We did not desire premature independance; we asked to be permitted to maintain our allegiance; but if our connection with England, Scotland, and Ireland were to be preserved, it must be an honorable connection-one we can maintain without exposing ourselves to reproach in exercising the powers which our Constitu-tion gives." Mr. McGee followed Mr. Howe and in the course of his speech we find this: "Let the colonies say to the mother country we are willing to bear our share with you, and all portions of Her Majesty's subjects in the anxieties and perils and dangers of the Empire, but insult and opprobrium we will not take at your hands." Mr. Foley followed, and thought that the sentiments of the people of England were not represented in the speeches of those who had attacked the Canadian people. The speeches on the whole evince a good deal of ability, and display a sturdiness of thoughts. Nevertheless the doings and tone, which shows that the blood which won so many constitutional privileges in the long struggles from the days of William the Conqueror down, has suffered no deterioration by being transplanted into the New World.

Arrival from Bute Inlet.

A large canoe with a crew of six men ar rived in this city yesterday afternoon from Bute Inlet direct, bringing letters from Mr Waddington to A. R. Green, Esq., requesting him to send a steamer to bring the party back to Victoria, the time for which the workmen were engaged having expired.

The cance left the mouth of the Inlet or Monday morning, crossing to Nanaimo the same day in a gale of wind, and reaching this city in the short space of three days and a half. It brought down four returned Stickeenites from Nanaimo.

The new trail is progressing very favor ably, being finished ready for travel up to the Indian rancherie, thirty miles from the mouth of the river. Just above the rancherie the first obstacle of any magnitude is encountered, viz: a point or spur of rocks about one mile across, which extends from the mountain down to the bed of the river : the mountain gown to the beg of the fiver this, however, is only a temporary obstruc-tion, as by three weeks work of the presen party it can be made quite passable for pack party it can be made quite passable for pack animals.

Above this point the route presents no difficulties whatever up to the ferry, a distance of ten miles from the rancherie. At the ferry the trail crosses the river to avoid the mountain, which comes down to the water's edge in a perpendicular bluff; it then takes up the left bank till it reaches the mouth of the pass or gorge through which the river flows, which presents the main obstacle on the route. The presents the main obstacle on the route. presents the main obstacle on the route. The messenger left Mr. Waddington and Mr. Kelly at the mouth of this pass on the 25th ult. Mr. Waddington determined to push through as far as possible this season. None of the party have as yet gone through the pass, but the Indians travel through it continually, and represent it as presenting no extraordinary difficulties. An Indian woman and two children who started in the morning came through by three o'clock, p. m. by three o'clock, p. m. The trail, so far as constructed, is straight.

and very dry and level. Our informant says there is not a steeper grade in the whole thirty miles than that leading to the wharves in this city. There are forty or fifty bridges of various sizes on the trail; the largest crossing the bed of a mountain stream about 22 miles from the mouth of the river, is about a quarter of a mile long. The bridges are all built so as to be above high water mark.

The weather has been remarkably fine at the lalet, the workmen not having lost more than three days from bad weather since they went up. The messenger says that it is colder here than it was at the Iolet when he left.

Mr. Waddington would have carried on the works till the middle of the month, but his supplies of beef and pork becoming ex-hausted, and the engagement of the men having expired, he has concluded to return. Mr. W. has built two houses at the town site on the mouth of the river; he is also building one at the foot of the pass.

The Indians are very quiet and friendly, and have been of great assistance to the party in packing.

Game is abundant along the trail—deer, wolves, and bear being very numerous. Messrs. Waddington and Kelly, while surveying the route, had an adventure with one of the latter which was rather laughable, although laughter was doubtless the last thing in their thoughts at the time. thing in their thoughts at the time. They were pushing through a thick piece of woods without happening to speak for a moment, when suddenly an immense she bear sprang up from a thicket immediately before them and stoed on her hind legs. Mr. W., who was in advance, at once dodged behind Mr. Kelly with an alacrity beyond his years, shouting out vociferously, "Shoothim, Kelly; shoothim—don't miss!" Mr. K. meanwhile was tugging at his revolver, which had bewas tugging at his revolver, which had become entangled in the skirts of his coat; but him. getting it out at length, he fired two balls into the bear, which made off. To their sur-prise and terror however, after running a few yards she turned and came back at full speed, probably to protect her cubs, two of which had been with her; Mr. K. manag-ing, however, to give her two more shots, she turned again and disappeared, to the intense delight of the valuant explorers. The bear was a grizzly, and of the largest size.

On the motion of Mr. Cary, the Road Bill was referred to a select Committee. Messrs. Cary, Burnaby, and Tolmie were appointed.

The House then went into Committee upon the Council amendments to the Stamp Act, Mr. Cocker in the chair. Several amendments were passed and others rejected.

Mr. Franklin and the Chairman were opposed to progress being reported, but a motion to that effect was carried.

Mr. Franklin, on behalf of the Select Commit-Art. Frankin, on behalf of the Select Commit-ee, reported favorably upon the petition from the Gas Company, and Mr. Cocker gave notice that at the next string he would introduce a bill to extherise the Gas Company to make certain regutions.

The House then adjourned until this (Friday) termoon at 3 o'clock.

PAY DIRT .- We have often heard patriotic Americans wish for enough of " the soil of the land of liberty to put their feet on ;" so that they could say they were on " American soil once more." But a small box of the pay dirt from the Point Claim (Griffin & Co.'s) on Williams Creek, that was shown on Yates street yesterday by Mr. Kurtz, casts in the saide all such patriotic notions. If a man c aid put his foot on such dirt, he would feel like standing in the New Jerusalem itself. It was in the natural state, just as it was taken from the bed-rock. There were the miggets embedded in the blue clay—decomposed slate—glistening—packed in, as though the hand of the jeweler had rudely stuck them in the semi-patrified day. Let any one recallect that 300. on Williams Creek, that was shown on Yates petrified clay. Let any one recollect that 300 ounces have been taken from this claim in an eight hour's washing, and they will be able to form a faint idea of what this rich pay-dirt is. Were the sample exhibited to public gaze on Montgomery street, San Francisco, it gaze on Montgomery street, San Francisco, it would fill up a steamship with passengers for Cariboo within a very brief period. It is now on view at the store of Mr. E. Marks, jeweler, on Yates street, who will take pleasure in exhibiting the same to the curious.

Mr. Pen iberton said that the course adopted was very it regular, and any respectable solicitor would arrange about his fees before coming into Court.

Mr. Bislop said that with all due deference His Worsl tip was incorrect.

The Att orney General then came into Court and Mr. Bishop asked if he had received a letter from 1 him desiring to secure his services for Odell?

Mr. Cary replied that ho had not, but as the prisoner was to be tried on a criminal charge, he could not be retained for the defence as he would have to appear on the other side.

Who holds an interest in one of the best claims of Lightning Creek, tells us that he ran over to Nelson Creek during the last summer. It is only six or seven miles from the town of Van Winkle, which is located at the junction of Lightning and Van Winkle Creeks. He describes Nelson as a very small creek—not more than a shite-head out water in it during the dry season. The hills on each side are lofty, as is usual in the Cariboo country. his own observations with others, he formed the conclusion, that the hills on Nelson Creek will yet yield immense quantities of gold when worked with hydraulic power. Creek will yet yield immense quantities of gold when worked with hydraulic power. Ditches will have be be constructed, however, to supply the claims with water, When that is done, it is anticipated that the rich leads of Williams. Lightning, and Lowhee will be equalled if not surpassed. But what is better, the claims will be easier worked, taking ten or twenty years to work them out. There is a great golden future in the hydraulic diggings of Cariboo.

From our last files we select the following items of southern news :

We have up to August 31st from the River Plate. Gen. Mitre had been elected President of the Republic, and Dr. Marcos Paz Vice-President. In our last summary we announced the resignation of M. Riestra as Secretary of the Treasury. It now appears he has withdrawn that resignation. The ne has withdrawn that resignation. The cotton growing fever has been transplanted from England to the Argentine Provinces. Cotton seed from Egypt and Georgia has been sent from England and distributed among the most extensive holders of land among the most extensive holders of land. There is a very sanguine expectation of successful results. Entre Rios and Corrientes seem best adapted for the proposed culture. In the latter State some slight insurrection movements were lately made, but promptly suppressed.

From Chile our dates are to September 18th. Everything was quiet politically. Preparations were making for the celebrature of the anniversary of Chilean independence. The railroad from Valparaise to Sautiago is expected to be open for traffic within a year, and solwill that from Sautiago to Fernando. Antonio Orelie the First, the Frenchman who claimed to be kirg of the Aranco Indians, has been tried and declared to be insune. The accounts of the crops from Conception are rather gloomy, especially as regards wheat. Great damage had been caused first by heavy rains at planting, and afterwards by the great drought. ture of the anniversary of Chilean independand afterwards by the great drought.

The Bolivian revolution has been marked

The Bolivian revolution has been marked since our last dates, by a dreadful buttle between the Government troops and the revolutionary party under Gen. Perez, in which it is said 1,000 men, principally rebels, were left dead and wounded. Perez was completely defeated. Our Peruvian dates are np to September 29. The principal political question is that of the national loan illegally made by the Peruvian Minister in Endead, as annead. the Peruvian Minister in England, as annour the Peruvian Minister in England, as announced in our last summary. $3,500,000 have reached Lina, but the Government has refused to accept it as yet. A new movement is in contemplation by the Government in the shape of a proposed National Bank having liberty to issue paper from $10 and upwards. It is thought doubtful whether it would succeed as the people always have been accustomed to specie. Government have revoked the monopoly and given it to some Americans for the extensive sale of coal oil, as it was obfor the extensive sale of coal oil, as it was ob for the extensive sale of coal on, as it was ob-tained under the fraudulent pretence that they were the discoverers of the material. The shock of an earthquake was felt in Paita on the 1st October, but no damage was sustained. It is said that a ship lately arrived at Callao from Polynesia with 100 families of savages on board, who were publicly sold in Callao and Linn at from $200 to $300 per head. The President has ordered an enquiry to be ARRIVED.—12. M. S. Hecate, Captain Richards, arrived yesterday afternoon from New Westmin ster via Nanaimo.

2027 The stemmer Emily Harris will start or Nanaimo thus evening.

1 Interview this first the matter. There is nothing of very great importance from Equador. President Morcae will not, it is said, adhere to the treaty lately made by him with Arboleda the conservative leader. The success of Mosquera doubtless convinces him where his inerests lie, and he will not be in a hurry to fiend the United States of Columbia. Gen. Jores, however, is stationed on the frontiers to prevent the invasion of Equador from the New Grenada side.

New Grentada side.

From New Grenada everything tends to show that the war which has now for some time ravaged this State is about concluded. After a series of victories by Mosquera's party, our last account informs us that a bloody battle

The Presidential election for Nacarague was shortly to take place. There were twenty or thirty candidates. A good deal of excitement existed on account of the U.S. negro colonization scheme. Free negroes are prohibited from settling in the State. All persons coming into the State other than transit passenand the equired to procure passports. It is thought the Government lears that the transit company is only a medium for inaugurating fillibustering. St. Salvador is quiet. All kinds of agricultural products are searce. The commissioners sent by Nicaragua to unite the Central American States, were unable to effect anything, the project having been re-jected by Guatemula, San Salvador, and Hon-From Hondurns we learn of a deficient harvest throughout the whole country. The capital has been removed to Tegucialapa. Some efforts are making to have the Panama steamships touch at Amapala.

NAPOLEON AT ELBA.— Bonapatte is reduced to his last shilling. He has spent the little money he brought with him, and his pension has not been paid, although the six sure in exhibiting the same to the curious.

Hydraulic Diggings.—A gentleman who holds an interest in one of the best claims of Lightning Creek, tells us that he claims of Lightning Creek, tells us that he any other funds, and on leaving France he did not take any of his private treasure, plate, or jewels with him. They say that the Empress is much attached to Bonaparte, and the junction of Lightning and Van Winkle Creeks. He describes Nelson as a very small creek—not more than a shiften head the Emperor declares he will only be rethe Emperor declares he will only be removed per force. Bonaparte brought 800 Imperial Guards and about 150 Polish Lancers to Elba with him. Many of these have left, not Fking the confinement, and things not being so cheap as in France. Lord Ebrington is the only Englishman who has dired with Bonaparte. They had much conversation on the campaign in Egypt. The Turks that were shot, Napoleon said, were taken by the French, released on their parole, retaken in arms, and of course were liable to the laws of war; but that he should not have put them to death had there been anything to ent. As to the poisoned French sick soldiers, he said they were only two or three who had the plague, and could not be removed without endangering the health of the whole army; that he recommended an easy death by a little poison, but it was not administered, and they were left to be butchered by the Turks.—Wellington's Memorandu. parole, retaken in arms, and of course were Hair Restorative

Division of Washington Tengtony.—The Golden Aye of Oct. 24th, has the following: "Several of our leading citizens, after an interchange of views touching our present position in Washington Territory, have decided to make a movement towards dividing the Territory, and a committee has been appointed to confer with the citizens in every mining town or camp east of the Cascades. We are glad to see this movement on the part of our citizens. We should much prefer to enter the Union as a State, but if we cannot do as our sister State California did, let us enter the Union as the Territory of Idaho. The com-Union as the Territory of Idaho. onion as the territory of Idano. The committee propose to take Columbia river down to the Oregon State line as the western boundary; the northern, eastern, and southern boundaries will be such States or territories as are contiguous to us. This will give the Territory of Idaho about one hundred thousand square niles, and in five years, we predict, it will prove one of the richest States in the Con-icderacy."

We understand the Agent of the Royal Mail Packet Company will be happy to afford an information in his power to passengers by the Company's boats, as to the mines of British Columbia, or other general local information by applying at the office of the agency, at Macdonald & Co.'s, Bankers, Yates street. VICTORIANS should test the merits of Dr.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalled it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalled as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters are the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hosteiter's Bitters, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health. health.

BAD LEGS, BAD BREASTS, AND ULCERS,-The BAD LEGS, BAD BIEASTS, AND ULCEUS,—The treatment erroneously pursued in these cuses, is to drive the disease inwards, thus making matters far worse than by allowing it to take its natural course, as it only breaks out elsewhere with an aspect ten times more dreadful than before. Holloway's celebrated Ointment and Pills, however, act in conjunction, the one internally and the other externally, and by the conjunction of these two inestimable specifies, all descriptions of external diseases are specifly and rapidly removed, even when all other means fail.

"I have found great benefit from the use of 'Brown's Bronchial Troches,' before and after preaching, as they prevent houseness, to which I am very subject. I think from their past effect they will be of permanent advantage to me. Several clergymen of my acquaintance to whom I have given the Troches have been benefitted by them."

New Grenada side.
From New Grenada ceverything tends to show that the war which has now for some time ravaged this State is about concluded. After a series of victories by Mosquera's party, our last account informs us that a bloody battle had been fought tetween a portion of Mosquera's troops under Gatienez and those of Arboleda under Erras Jiralda Mendoza Copedoba and Paballero, lasting six hours, resulting in the defent of Arboleda's partisans; who lett 200 dead on the field. A party of gentlement lately went to the Cocos Islands in the steam-turg of the British Steam Company, to look for the treasure said to have been buried there long ago by the buccaneers. They returned hone without finding anything.

It is reported that Mr. Seward has proposed to England and France a joint protectorate over the Ishmus and transit. Such an arrangement would no doubt prove a great benefit to the travelling and commercial public.
From Costa Rica we hear of the extensive planting of cotton. The death of the late Vice President, Escalaute, of disease of the beart, is also announced. The coffee crop, which looks well, is expected to come in about the beginning of December, and is set down the beginning of December, and is set MARINE INTELLIGENCE.
